Applications are invited for the position of trainee patent agent with McLaughlin IP Pte Ltd. The successful candidate can expect an interesting and varied workload across several engineering disciplines, ranging from electronics, telecommunications, computer science & software, through to mechanical engineering and devices.

Preferably you should have:

- a good university degree in a relevant discipline, such as electrical engineering, physics or computer science;
- excellent English-language skills;
- an appreciation for the need for effective communication;
- good analytical skills and the ability to grasp complex technological and legal concepts;
- an attention to fine detail;
- completed at least two years' training as a patent agent;
- part-qualification towards becoming a Registered Patent Agent;
- an outgoing and friendly personality.

In return you can expect excellent training and career prospects.

To apply in the strictest confidence, please send your CV by email to michael@mclaughlinip.com, indicating your current salary.
